December, 2011

Dear Friends and Customers Happy Holiday!!

What a great year for the Electric Vehicles. We finally see them driving around cities and highways. They are finally for real. I drove both the GM Volt, the Nissan Leaf and the Mitsubishi i. The key is in, there is no noise and the EV is ready to go. Just step on the accelerator to enjoy a great torque and a smooth drive.

In 2012 more car manufacturers will launch their vehicles. The Mitsubishi i, the Ford Focus Electric, the "family" of Prius models and many more will be available soon. 2012.

In the meantime VerdeK has been building the charging infrastructure necessary to reduce or eliminate the "range anxiety". The network of ChargePoint charging stations is now quite extensive in all the US.

ChargePoint is accessible via PDA. Just click on the hyperlinks to download the ChargePoint apps for iPhone, Blackberry or Android.

You will always know where and how far is the closest ChargePoint charging station.

We wish you a successful 2012!!

Happy Holidays From,

The Verdek Team
